

Anatolian Pizza (Traditional Turkish pide)

Here is a traditional Turkish dish to fill you up and bring a smile to your lips. It's an absolutely classic staple in Turkey. This warming doughy concoction is about the closest you can get to a home-grown Turkish equivalent of pizza. It's baked in the oven with a crispy outer crust.

Sultan's Cook

This diverse cuisine was amalgamated and honed in the Imperial Palace's kitchens by chefs brought from certain parts of the empire to create and experiment with different ingredients.

These chefs were tested and hired by their method of cooking rice, a simple dish. They were brought over from various places for the express purpose of experimenting with exotic textures and ingredients and inventing new dishes.

Each cook specialised in specific tasks. All dishes intended for the sultan were first passed by the palate of the Chesniðjibashi, or imperial food taster, who tested the food for both poison and taste.
